Activity #2: Practice Using CASSI

In the discipline of chemistry, when writing papers and citations researchers need to determine if the article they are using is from a periodical recognized by the Chemical Abstracts Service, or CAS. The citations are slightly different for periodicals recognized by CAS. One difference is that periodical titles in CAS may be abbreviated.

Use the CAS Source Index (CASSI) Search Tool to identify the appropriate abbreviations (if any) for the following publications. Record your answers on the worksheet.

1. Energy Journal (ISSN: 0195-6574) __________________________
2. Current Science (ISSN: 0011-3891) ____________________________
3. PLoS ONE (ISSN 1932-6203) ________________________________
4. Journal of Climate (ISSN: 0894-8755) __________________________
5. Polish Journal of Environmental Studies (ISSN: 1230-1485) ____________

Activity #3: Identify the Type of Source and Find It on the Handout
